Answer

MINISTER OF ENVIRONMENT & FORESTS (SHRI T.R. BAALU)

- (a) to (e) A statement is laid on the Table of the House.

Statement referred to in the reply to Parts (a) to (e) of Lok Sabha Starred Question No. 101 to be answered on 25.11.2002 on Chemical Pollution of Rivers

(a) to (d) Government is implementing a National River Conservation Plan for Cleaning of polluted rivers. The Central Pollution Control Board (CPCB) through State Pollution Control Boards (SPCBs) is monitoring the water quality of rivers under Monitoring of Indian National Aquatic Resources (MINARS) and Global Environmental Monitoring System (GEMS) programs at 784 locations. Further, to prevent pollution of rivers from industries including the chemical factories located on the banks of the rivers, a total of 851 grossly polluting industries have been identified. These industries are regularly monitored by CPCB and SPCBs. As per the latest report, out of 851 industries, 608 industries have provided effluent treatment facilities after issuance of directions, 238 industries have been closed and 5 industries are defaulting and facing legal action.

(e) A total of 74 grossly polluting industries have been identified along the river Ganga at Kanpur and Allahabad in Uttar Pradesh. Out of 74 units 27 units are closed and 35 units are operating effluent treatment plants (ETPs) satisfactorily. The remaining 12 units have installed ETPs but their operation is not satisfactory and the State Pollution Control Board has been asked to take action against these units. The list of these 74 industries along with their operational status is at Annexure.

Annexure Referred to in Reply to Lok Sabha Starred Question No 101 to be answered on November 25, 2002 on Chemical Pollution of Rivers.
